Guidance

Norway is party to eight of the nine core UN human rights treaties.¹ These are:

- The International Convention on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (ICERD)
- The International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR)
- The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR)
- The Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW)
- The Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (CAT)
- The Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC)
- The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD)
- The Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (CED)

Many of these treaties have been incorporated into Norwegian law by Acts of Parliament. Irrespective of the method of incorporation, however, the treaties are legally binding for Norway and the State regularly reports to the various UN Treaty Bodies on their implementation.

Each treaty has a corresponding Treaty Body, a committee of independent experts responsible for monitoring its implementation at the national level. The UN Treaty Bodies receive periodic reports from each State Party on the legislative, policy and other measures taken to implement the respective treaty obligations. Following the examination of State Party reports, as well as submissions from other human rights entities and civil society organisations, the Treaty Bodies issue recommendations to that State. These recommendations are not legally binding, but they may have an impact on policies and practices of the respective State Party.

The UN Treaty Body reporting process normally takes place every four to five years. In the period 2017–2020, Norway was due to report to all relevant UN Treaty Bodies. In addition, Norway reported to the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) mechanism of the Human Rights Council.

¹ Norway is not party to the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families. <https://www.ohchr.org/EN/ProfessionalInterest/Pages/CoreInstruments.aspx>

The Norwegian National Human Rights Institution (NIM) has a mandate to protect and promote human rights in Norway. This includes taking an active part in the UN Treaty Body reporting process, with a view to monitor the State's implementation of its international human rights obligations in Norway. NIM is involved in the reporting processes through consultations with state institutions, ombudsman offices as well as civil society organisations. NIM also submits supplementary reports to the Treaty Bodies, and participates in the examinations of Norway at the UN.

This Compilation provides a systematised overview of recommendations to Norway from the UN human rights Treaty Bodies from the reporting cycle 2017–2020. The recommendations have been quoted ad verbatim. The Compilation also contains recommendations (that have been accepted or partially accepted by Norway) emanating from the Universal Periodic Review third cycle in 2019.

The recommendations are organised according to human rights themes and specific groups in line with the Human Rights Index developed by the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights. Cross references are provided throughout the text to other relevant themes and groups. The way in which the recommendations are organised thematically shows that many Treaty Bodies are concerned with the same issues, across the individual treaties.

To make the Compilation user-friendly, symbols are inserted alongside the text to indicate the main types of recommendations:

1– Law, instruction, guidelines

2– Strategies, action plans

3 – Institutional practices

4 – Resources

5 – Statistics, surveys, research, assessments

1. Right to physical and moral integrity

1.1 Prevention and punishment of violence (gender-based, sexual, domestic)

Violence against women and girls CCPR/C/NOR/CO/7

15. The State party should increase its efforts to prevent and combat all forms of violence against women and girls and, in particular:

(a) Proceed with plans to launch a new national plan of action to eliminate violence against women and girls, with a focus on eliminating rape and other forms of sexual violence in the State party, including in the Sami community, in consultation with Sami peoples and other stakeholders;

(b) Amend section 291 of the Penal Code to ensure that the lack of free consent is at the centre of the definition of rape;

(c) Facilitate the reporting of rape and gender-based violence cases by, inter alia, systematically informing women and girls of their rights and of the existing legal avenues through which they can access resources, services, protection and justice;

(d) Strengthen its efforts to raise public awareness of the adverse impact of sexual and gender-based violence. Continue to train judges, prosecutors and law enforcement officials on addressing sexual and gender-based violence and strengthen the investigative capacity of law enforcement for such cases. Ensure all reports are promptly and thoroughly investigated, that perpetrators are brought to justice and that victims have access to full reparations;

(e) Investigate further the root causes of higher levels of violence against women in the Sami community. Take effective measures to address these root causes, eliminate cultural and linguistic barriers and build trust between the Sami community and authorities.

Gender-based violence against women CEDAW/C/NOR/CO/9

25. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Develop and implement comprehensive measures for the prevention and elimination of gender-based violence against women and girls, in particular domestic violence and rape and other forms of sexual violence, and ensure that perpetrators of gender-based violence are prosecuted and punished commensurately with the gravity of their crimes, in accordance with the Committee's general recommendation No. 35 (2017) on gender-based violence against women, updating general recommendation No. 19;

(b) Strengthen the capacity of the police, prosecutors and judges on the strict application of relevant criminal law provisions and gender-sensitive investigations of cases of gender-based violence, including cases affecting women with (mental) disabilities and other vulnerable groups of women;

(c) Systematically implement gender training and capacity-building for judges and lay judges in criminal cases involving gender-based violence, in line with the Committee's general recommendation No. 35;

(d) Collect and report to the Committee disaggregated data on the number of:

(i) Cases of violence against women that have been investigated and that have led to prosecutions, including information on the sanctions imposed on perpetrators;

(ii) Women victims of violence who have been provided with legal assistance and relevant support services;

(iii) Women victims of violence who have been compensated;

(iv) Non-contact orders (restraining orders) issued, with a view to improving the State party's ability to address the root causes of all forms of gender-based violence;

(e) Devise an action plan for enhanced prevention, protection and redress of gender-based violence, in particular sexual violence, against Sami women and girl victims, including with a view to overcoming cultural and linguistic barriers, based on further research into the root causes, and allocate sufficient resources for its implementation;

(f) Adopt a legal definition of rape in the Penal Code that places lack of free consent at its centre, in line with the Committee's general recommendation No. 35, Vertido v. The Philippines (CEDAW/C/46/D/18/2008) and the State party's obligations under the Istanbul Convention;

(g) Accelerate the development and adoption of a new national plan of action against rape and sexual violence;

(h) Provide sufficient numbers of shelters for women victims of violence to avoid the need for the relocation of women victims in the event of full occupancy of the designated shelter;

(i) Take the necessary measures to overcome the existing practical and legal impediments surrounding reverse attack alarm systems in order to enhance their use as an effective means to prevent violence against women.

Violence against women CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

24. The State party should:

(a) Amend section 291 of the Penal Code in order to ensure that the lack of free consent is at the centre of the definition of rape, in compliance with international standards and its obligations under the Istanbul Convention, so that rape cases falling outside of the current narrow definition are not treated as a minor sexual offence and closed as "no criminal act proven";

(b) Strengthen the capacity and training of the police, prosecutors and judges to investigate and prosecute more effectively cases of violence against women, including sexual violence, such as rape;

(c) Investigate the root causes and develop an action plan aimed at the prevention of, protection from and addressing violence, including sexual assault in the Sami community in consultation with the Sami community, and enhance efforts to build confidence in public authorities.

Cross-reference: Women

UPR Third Cycle – Issues accepted or partially accepted by Norway:

- Combat gender-based violence, particularly domestic and sexual violence against women and children.
- Strengthen the investigative capacity of the police and prosecutors in all forms of gender-based violence and training of lawyers, prosecutors and judges.

1.2 Trafficking and exploitation

Trafficking and exploitation CEDAW/C/NOR/CO/9

27. The Committee recommends that the State party:

- (a) Systematically collect comprehensive data about victims of trafficking and report them to the Committee in its next periodic report;
- (b) Adopt a human rights-based approach in its efforts to combat trafficking, and prioritize the prevention of trafficking and re trafficking, the protection of victims and the prosecution of perpetrators;
- (c) Create a uniform national system for identifying and following up on women victims of trafficking, ensuring the continuity of rights and entitlements when there is a change in the residence or legal status of the victim, conducting awareness-raising campaigns about human trafficking and discontinuing the return of victims of human trafficking under the Dublin Regulation;
- (d) Revise immigration policies to ensure that laws and policies on the deportation of foreign women are not applied in a discriminatory manner, do not deter migrants, refugees and asylum seekers from reporting crimes of trafficking and do not undermine efforts to prevent human trafficking, identify or protect victims or prosecute perpetrators.

29. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Accelerate the tabling of the white paper on prostitution to Parliament in order to formulate a comprehensive policy, legislative and regulatory framework that ensures legal protection from exploitation for women who engage in prostitution, and ensure that they are not prosecuted for the sale of sexual activity and sexual acts, including for acts that currently amount to criminal acts of “promotion of prostitution”;

(b) Conduct or fund long-term research that provides evidence-based knowledge about the living conditions of women in prostitution in Norway in order to design programmes to improve the safeguarding of their human rights, including their rights to protection against violence, health and access to social security;

(c) Strengthen exit programmes for women who wish to leave prostitution.

Cross-reference: Women

UPR Third Cycle – Issues accepted or partially accepted by Norway:

- Increase efforts to combat trafficking, protect the victims and prosecute the perpetrators.
- Create a formalized National Referral Mechanism.

2. Liberty and security of the person and treatment in custody

Police detention CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

12. The State party should ensure that all persons deprived of their liberty are afforded in law and in practice all fundamental legal safeguards from the very outset of their detention, in accordance with international standards, including being informed of their rights, receiving at their request a medical examination preferably by a doctor of their own choice, having access to a lawyer or free legal aid in all cases required by the interests of justice, particularly during investigation and questioning, being informed of their right to lodge complaints and about the actual complaints procedure, and being brought before a judge within 48 hours of their apprehension.

Police cells CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

14. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (see CAT/C/NOR/CO/6-7, para. 10) that the State party should abolish the use of police detention cells beyond the 48-hour term stipulated in law. It should implement rigorously the new guidelines concerning the use of police custody facilities drawn up in July 2015 by the National Police Directorate with a view to reduce to a minimum the number of persons who spend more than 48 hours in police custody after being arrested. The pretrial detention of minors should be used as a measure of last resort, should follow clear guidelines and no children should be held in police facilities beyond the 24-hour limit without a court hearing, as prescribed by the Criminal Procedure Act, and alternative measures to police detention should be sought. The State party should expand or refurbish existing police station facilities with inadequate conditions and transfer all pretrial detainees to prison facilities after the period prescribed by law.

Cross-reference: Children

Pre-trial detention CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

16. The State party should adhere strictly to the 48-hour custody rule and ensure that pretrial detainees are moved as soon as possible to prison facilities in order to avoid unnecessary isolation during their detention in police cells, which may amount to de facto solitary confinement and give rise to mental health problems. It should apply rigorous criteria for isolation and provide inmates with legal and procedural safeguards to address their situation in order to prevent discretionary assessments, as well as with adequate mental and other health care, in particular when subjected to isolation. The State party should ensure sufficient prison facilities and staff, as well as adequate material conditions, to address the needs of and accommodate all pretrial detainees.

Solitary confinement in prison CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

18. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (see CAT/C/NOR/CO/6-7, para. 11) that the State party ensure full conformity with the Convention and the United Nations Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners (the Nelson Mandela Rules) adopted in 2015, and should:

(a) Implement effectively the revised guidelines enacted by the Government in March 2017 that lay down detailed criteria on the use of solitary confinement and ensure that issues relating to infrastructure and staffing are not used as grounds for exclusion;

(b) Reduce the use of solitary confinement to situations that are strictly necessary and amend the legislative framework in order to limit the use of such confinement to exceptional circumstances;

(c) Ensure that persons subjected to solitary confinement are attended to by medical staff on a daily basis, that their isolation is discontinued if it is found to adversely affect their health, that they enjoy procedural safeguards, and have the right to file complaints and to submit their cases for judicial review;

(d) Evaluate and assess the effects of the practice of isolation or full exclusion on the mental and physical health of prisoners in order to reduce them and use alternative and less intrusive measures whenever possible;

(e) Ensure that de facto isolation of prisoners that is similar to solitary confinement, such as full exclusion, is based on policy, law and guidelines, and set a maximum number of days a prisoner can remain in full exclusion;

(f) Provide prisoners with information about their legal rights and extend the deadline for the administrative appeals of prisoners regarding their exclusion or solitary confinement beyond the current 48 hours;

(g) Review the existing mechanisms of control and legal remedies, provide detailed statistics on the use of isolation and full exclusion from human contact, provide them to the Committee and make them public;

(h) Exempt from and not apply the administration ABE-reform, which has imposed annual budget cuts for all government entities since 2014 as a measure to contribute to the Government's reforms to reduce bureaucratization and increase efficiency, in all places in which persons are deprived of their liberty in order that insufficient building capacities and conditions and insufficient staff do not jeopardize the health and lives of persons deprived of their liberty.

Solitary confinement in prison CCPR/C/NOR/CO/7

25. The State party should evaluate the effects of full exclusions with a view to reducing them and use alternative measures whenever possible. It should set a maximum number of days a prisoner can remain in full exclusion in its policy, law and guidelines, in accordance with international standards.

Mental health care in prison CAT/C/NOR/CO/8 CAT

20. The Committee reiterates its recommendation (see CAT/C/NOR/CO/6-7, para. 13) that the State party take all measures to ensure that prisoners with psychosocial disabilities and serious mental health problems receive adequate mental health care, by increasing the capacity of inpatient psychiatric wards, including the security departments, and providing full access to mental health care services within all prison facilities. It should abolish the use of full isolation of persons with mental and psychosocial disabilities, in particular when their conditions would be exacerbated by such measures.

Isolation of persons with mental disability CCPR/C/NOR/CO/7

27. The State party should abolish the use of full isolation for persons with mental disabilities and use alternative methods, whenever possible. The State party should ensure the provision of adequate health-care services to persons with psychosocial disabilities in prison.

Detention facilities abroad CAT/C/NOR/CO/8

32. The State party should:

(a) Refrain from leasing detention facilities outside its territory and should ensure that State party officials and public monitoring bodies, including the national preventive mechanism and the national human rights institution, are able to carry out fully their obligations under the Convention, including to monitor and keep under review the conditions of detention in all prisons and places in which persons are deprived of their liberty;

(b) Ensure that there are sufficient numbers of prison staff with the required level of competence;

(c) Refrain from any discriminatory detention measures against foreigners in detention facilities outside its territory.

Administration of juvenile justice CRC/C/NOR/CO/5-6

35. The Committee welcomes the amendments to the Execution of Sentences Act abolishing the possibility of using isolation as a disciplinary measure. With reference to its general comment No. 10 (2007) on children's rights in juvenile justice, the Committee urges the State party to bring its juvenile justice system fully into line with the Convention and other relevant standards. In particular, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Discontinue preventive detention for children;

(b) Where detention is unavoidable, ensure that children are not detained together with adults, both in pretrial detention and after being sentenced, and, in line with the Committee's previous recommendations, withdraw the reservation to article 10 (2) (b) and (3), of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, "with regard to the obligation to keep accused juvenile persons and juvenile offenders segregated from adults" (CRC/C/NOR/CO/4, para. 7);

(c) Strengthen safeguards to ensure that isolation as a preventive measure is avoided to the greatest extent possible;

(d) Make the necessary legislative amendments to extend the application of the alternative form of sanction, the so-called juvenile sanction, to asylum-seeking children.

Cross-reference: Children

Women in prison CEDAW/C/NOR/CO/9

47. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Step up its efforts to improve prison conditions for women prisoners on an equal level with men in prison and in compliance with the United Nations Rules for the Treatment of Women Prisoners and Non-custodial Measures for Women Offenders (Bangkok Rules), adopted by the General Assembly in its resolution 65/229;

(b) Improve health-care services, including mental health care and substance abuse rehabilitation services, for women prisoners.

Cross-reference: Women

UPR Third Cycle – Issues accepted or partially accepted by Norway:

- Strengthen accountability in cases of human rights violations by law enforcement personnel and eliminate excessive use of force.
- Provide full access to mental health care services in all prison facilities and limit the use of isolation.
- Improve detention conditions in the prison system.
- Evaluate the effects of solitary confinement in prisons with a view to reducing it and use alternative measures whenever possible.

3. Fundamental freedoms

3.1 Hate speech and hate crimes

Hate speech and hate crimes CCPR/C/NOR/CO/7

17. The State party should:

(a) Take effective measures to prevent hate speech and hate crimes in accordance with the Covenant, including by increasing efforts to promote tolerance, ensuring full implementation of the Strategy against Hate Speech (2016–2020) and the creation of hate crime investigation units in all districts;

(b) Streamline the national registration of reports of hate crimes and hate speech and systematize the regular collection of data on these crimes, including the number of reported cases, investigations launched, prosecutions and convictions;

(c) Encourage the reporting of hate crimes and criminal hate speech and ensure that these crimes are promptly identified and registered as such; and

(d) Strengthen the investigation capacity of law enforcement officials on hate crimes and criminal hate speech, including on the Internet, and ensure all cases are systematically investigated, that perpetrators are prosecuted and punished and that appropriate compensation is awarded to the victims.

Hate crimes CERD/C/NOR/CO/23-24

12. The Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Take all measures to prevent hate crimes and provide support to victims of such crimes, including in accessing justice;

(b) Investigate the reason for the increase in hate crimes in the State party and the increased fear of hate crimes among persons from migrant backgrounds and address the underlying causes;

(c) Allocate resources for and ensure the establishment of hate crime units throughout the country similar to the one in Oslo;

(d) Continue its training and educational efforts to improve knowledge of the proper identification, registration and prosecution of hate crimes among prosecutors, the judiciary and the law enforcement authorities;

(e) Increase awareness-raising campaigns to address stereotypes and increase tolerance between various communities to prevent hate crimes;

(f) Ensure a proper national uniform data-collection system on hate crimes, including statistics on complaints, investigations, convictions and penalties for acts of hate crime, and provide information on this data in its next periodic report.

Hate speech CERD/C/NOR/CO/23-24

14. Recalling its general recommendation No. 35 (2013) on combating racist hate speech, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Continue to publicly condemn and distance itself, including in online media, from racist hate speech by public figures, including politicians, and fully apply the relevant legislation and take measures to protect vulnerable affected groups;

(b) Ensure that all measures in the Strategy against Hate Speech are implemented, that all police districts give high priority to the investigation of hate speech and hate crimes and that there is proper coordination among the police, the prosecutor's office and the courts in this regard;

(c) Effectively identify, register and investigate cases of racist hate speech or incitement to racial hatred and racially motivated violence and hate crimes, and prosecute and sanction those responsible, including politicians and media officials;

(d) Ensure the standardized collection and reporting of statistics on hate speech and hate crimes, including the number of reports, investigations, prosecutions and convictions;

(e) Establish guidelines for politicians regarding hate speech on social media.

Prohibition of organizations that promote racial discrimination CERD/C/NOR/CO/23-24

16. The Committee recalls its general recommendation No. 35, in particular its emphasis that article 4 is compatible with the right to freedom of expression. Children deprived of a family environment CRC/C/NOR/CO/5-6

21. Drawing the State party's attention to the Guidelines for the Alternative Care of Children, the Committee emphasizes that financial and material poverty – or conditions directly and uniquely attributable to such poverty – should never be the sole justification for removing a child from parental care, for receiving a child

(a) Ensure that all forms of separation of children from their parents are always in the best interests of the child, including by:

(i) Reviewing the current practices relating to out-of-home placements, deprivation of parental rights and limitation of contact rights with a view to ensuring that such drastic steps are only used as measures of last resort, are based on the needs and best interests of the child and are subject to adequate safeguards, with a particular emphasis on children of Roma families, who, it seems, are being separated from their families with disproportionate frequency;

(d) Ensure, in the light of the outcome of the report of 1 April 2018 on inclusive education by the expert group for children and young people who need special adaptation, that inclusive education becomes more inclusive, more adapted to the needs of children with disabilities and obtains better results, with higher quality;

28. The Committee recommends that the State party ensure that all children in Norway have the same rights, without discrimination, and ensure:

(a) That detention of asylum seekers is only used as a measure of last resort, for the shortest possible period of time, and that efforts are made to prioritize alternative measures to detention;

(b) That the care of unaccompanied minors between the ages of 15 and 18 is transferred from the Directorate of Immigration to the child welfare service;

(c) The effective implementation of the 2017 decision of the Norwegian parliament to give some unaccompanied minors who have received time-limited residence permits until they turn 18 the opportunity to have their cases reconsidered. When determining their status, due regard should be given to social and humanitarian circumstances.

(a) Develop an emergency information and warning system that is fully available, free and accessible throughout the State party for all persons with disabilities regardless of the type of impairment;

(b) Adopt a comprehensive disaster risk reduction strategy that guarantees accessibility for and the inclusion of persons with disabilities in all situations of risk.

Extraterritorial obligations under the Covenant CESCR/E/C.12/NOR/CO/6

7. The Committee recommends that the State party review the investment of the Government Pension Fund Global in business entities involved in operations in the Occupied Palestinian Territories, in the light of its obligations stipulated in the International Court of Justice' advisory opinion of 9 July 2004 on the legal consequences of the construction of the wall in the Occupied Palestinian Territories. It also recommends that the State party ensure the ethically motivated guidelines for observation and exclusion from the Government Pension Fund Global are in line with its territorial and extraterritorial obligations under the Covenant, as elaborated in paras. 25–37 of the Committee's general comment No. 24 (2017) on State obligations under the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights in the context of business activities. It further recommends that the State party pursue a rigorous process of ethics assessment by the Council of Ethics.

Business and human rights CESCR/E/C.12/NOR/CO/6

9. The Committee recommends that the State party fully implement the national action plan to follow up the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and improve the effectiveness of the plan, including by setting measurable goals and concrete timelines. It also recommends that the State party ensure that business entities properly carry out assessments of human rights risks in relation to their operations overseas and strengthen the capacity of the State party, including through its embassies, to assess the human rights risks of their host countries. It further recommends that the State party adopt a legislative framework that stipulates human rights due diligence of business entities; holds business entities under the State party's jurisdiction accountable for violations of economic, social and cultural rights; and provides for access to remedy in the State party by non-national victims.

Climate change CESCR/E/C.12/NOR/CO/6

11. The Committee recommends that the State party intensify its efforts to achieve its nationally determined contribution under the Paris Agreement to reduce emissions by at least 50 per cent and towards 55 per cent compared to 1990 levels by 2030; and to promote alternative and renewable energy sources. It also recommends that the State party reconsider its decision to increase oil and natural gas exploitation and take its human rights obligations as a primary consideration into its natural resource exploitation and export policies.

48. The Committee recommends that the State party take fully into account its obligations under the Covenant and ensure the full enjoyment of the rights enshrined therein in the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development at the national level. Achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals would be significantly facilitated by the State party establishing independent mechanisms to monitor progress and treating beneficiaries of public programmes as rights holders who can claim entitlements. Implementing the Goals on the basis of the principles of participation, accountability and non-discrimination would ensure that no one is left behind. In this regard, the Committee draws the State party's attention to its statement on the pledge to leave no one behind (E/C.12/2019/1).

UPR Third Cycle – Issues accepted or partially accepted by Norway:

- Promote human rights technical cooperation and capacity-building at the national and international levels.
- Provide development assistance and development cooperation that are based on partner countries' own priorities.

- Strengthen the protection of human rights defenders.

8.5 Statistics

Children – data collection CRC/C/NOR/CO/5-6

9. The Committee, while welcoming the availability of disaggregated data on a significant number of issues, encourages the State party to increase its efforts to ensure that its data-collection system allows for the collection of disaggregated data related to all areas of the Convention. In this regard, the Committee recommends that the State party disaggregate data by ethnicity, as the absence of such data prevents the State party from gaining the knowledge needed to measure discrimination based on ethnicity and develop measures to overcome it, in particular regarding children exposed to intersecting forms of discrimination.

Ethnic composition of population CERD/C/NOR/CO/23-24

6. Recalling its revised reporting guidelines (CERD/C/2007/1) and its general recommendation No. 8 (1990) concerning the interpretation and application of article 1 (1) and (4) of the Convention, the Committee recommends that the State party provide it with statistics on the ethnic composition of its population and develop socioeconomic indicators on the enjoyment of social and economic rights by various ethnic groups, including through dialogue with ethnic minorities and by diversifying its data-collection activities by using various indicators of ethnic diversity and by allowing respondents to report anonymously and to choose self-identification, in order to provide an adequate empirical basis for monitoring the enjoyment of all the rights enshrined in the Convention.

Statistics and data collection (art. 31) CRPD/C/NOR/CO/1

50. In view of target 17.18 of the Sustainable Development Goals, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Rely on the methodology of the Washington Group on Disability Statistics to collect, analyse and disseminate data on its population disaggregated by sex, age, ethnic origin, type of impairment, socioeconomic status, employment, barriers encountered and place of residence, and data on cases of discrimination or violence against persons with disabilities;

(c) Develop and implement specific methodologies to assess the effectiveness and impact of training and educational programmes provided to relevant public officials on the provisions of the Convention in terms of reducing the number of cases of torture.

Training CRC/C/NOR/CO/5-6

10. The Committee notes with appreciation the efforts undertaken to provide training on the Convention to relevant professionals. However, given that the training provided still does not fully cover all professional groups and is not systematic, and that knowledge of the rights of the child among relevant professional groups remains insufficient, the Committee, in line with its previous recommendations (CRC/C/NOR/CO/4, para. 18), recommends that:

(a) Instruction on the Convention be a part of school curricula at all levels;

(b) The State party continue and strengthen the systematic dissemination of relevant information to and training of all professional groups working for and with children, including personnel of childcare institutions, health personnel, social workers and law enforcement officials;

(c) Awareness of children's rights be increased in policymaking bodies and municipal administrations.

29. In the light of the Committee's general comment No. 1 (2001) on the aims of education, and target 4.7 of the Sustainable Development Goals on ensuring that all learners acquire the knowledge and skills needed to promote sustainable development, the Committee recommends that the State party:

(a) Increase its efforts to implement a zero-tolerance approach to discrimination on the grounds of race, migration status, sexual orientation or gender identity in the school context and expand the scope of that approach to include private schools and by ensuring recurrent training for all school staff members on equality and gender identity and addressing all forms of discrimination, as well as civic instruction for students on the importance and methods of combating and reporting instances of discrimination. The State party should also develop a new plan of action for promoting gender equality and preventing discrimination on the ground of ethnicity;

(b) Continue its efforts to combat bullying and raise awareness of its harmful effects, with particular emphasis on the prevention of cyberbullying and on how children can defend themselves against cyberbullying, introduce mandatory elements into school curricula at all education levels on tolerance for diversity, non-violent conflict resolution skills and the judicious and safe use of the Internet, further build the capacity of teachers and school personnel in that regard and ensure that schools conduct special information sessions for parents on those issues.

8.7 Dissemination and follow-up of the recommendations
